Special continuation courses are opened for the apprentices in the various branches of industry. Admission to these schools is limited to those 14 years old who have finished 8 years of the elementary school, but in outlying districts pupils under this age are allowed to enter. The great variety of schools indicates the range of industries prevalent in the country. There are schools for machinists, metal trades, electricians, stonemasons, cabinetmakers, schools for weaving, basketry, glassmaking, pottery, and a number of others. Girls receive instruction in dressmaking, millinery, embroidery, and cooking. Students in the various industrial schools. COMMERCIAL EDUCATION. Commercial education is provided by commercial academies which offer advanced commercial training and commercial schools which prepare for office and ordinary business affairs. Commercial schools pertain to the ministry of...
