Not illustrated. 1907 Excerpt: .since the last Annual Conference of the Commissioners. In a number of the states there had been no meeting of the legislatures during this period. In Alabama and Georgia the legislature was still in session at the time the reports were made to the Chairman of your committee, and it was impossible to say just what laws the legislature would enact tending towards uniformity. Commissioner Edward Kent, of Arizona, stated its legislature passed the Sales Act without alteration, but no other uniform legislation had been enacted since 1906. Commissioner Henry Gonsmeirs, of Alabama, stated that the Negotiable Instruments Act had been adopted. That two sessions of the legislature had been held this year, and at the second session several things were undone which were done at the first session. He hoped the Sales Act would be made a part of the statutory law by this legislature. Commissioners E. P. Arvine and Talcott H. Russell, of Connecticut, knew of no decision of their courts relative to the subject of uniform legislation, but reported the adoption of the Sales Act and also the Act concerning Warehouse Receipts. The Uniform Divorce Law recommended by the Congress was not adopted, as there was a division of sentiment upon their own commission with regard to it. Commissioner A. B. Browne, of the District of Columbia, in reporting that neither law nor decision on the subject had been rendered within the District of Columbia, called attention to the Interstate Commerce Commission having...
